The Coal Mining Industry Of Sheffield And North Derbyshire  - Ken Wain

The coal mining industry of Sheffield and North Derbyshire - With some 900 shafts in Chesterfield alone and hundreds in the Sheffield area, Ken gives an insight into the growth of coal and ironstone mining in the region as well as some of the human stories of disaster and of working and living conditions for the miners and their families.

The coal mining industry of Sheffield and North Derbyshire - The coal mining industry of Sheffield and North Derbyshire online books database doc id fa582b online books database the coal mining industry of Sheffield and North Derbyshire summary of the coal mining industry of Sheffield and North Derbyshire. The coal mining industry of Sheffield and North Derbyshire. The coal mining industry of Sheffield and North Derbyshire. The coal mining industry of Sheffield and North Derbyshire.

The coal mining industry of Sheffield and North East - The coal mining industry of Sheffield and North East Derbyshire. The coal mining industry of Sheffield and North East Derbyshire.

Read the coal mining industry of Sheffield and North Derbyshire by Ken Wain. Ken Wain has spent 38 years working underground in the Sheffield area and has amassed one of the best collections of images of the coal mines of South Yorkshire, Derbyshire, and North Derbyshire. The main Derbyshire colliery is the northern mine. The main Derbyshire colliery is a southern extension of the Yorkshire coalfield and so reflect it in many aspects in turn it dips eastwards into Nottinghamshire and North East Leicestershire. There was a significant ironstone mining industry around clay cross, North Derbyshire Collieries. The Adelphi ironworks was built around 1799 as a munitions factory capable of producing nine hundred tons of pig iron per annum from two furnaces from the 1837 tithe map of the Sutton estate. Local fields reflect the use of the fields around the ironworks furnace field and brickyard field, Dymocks Coal Mining Industry of Sheffield and North. With some 900 shafts in Chesterfield alone and hundreds in the Sheffield area, Ken gives an insight into the growth of coal and ironstone mining in the region as well as some of the human stories of disaster and of working and living conditions for the miners and their families.